

Last month, Best Jordans Shoes Brand released a "Sunblush" Colorway of the Jordan V exclusively for women. Now it appears as though the colorway will also make its way to lowtop VIs. Appearing differently than the Jordan V did, this pair will feature a black synthetic leather and synthetic nubuck upper with silver jumpman detailing on the tongue. Chrome details highlight the midsole and the lace locks, and the shoe is finished with Sunblush details.

Earlier we announced that the Latest Jordans Shoes would be included as part of the Doernbecher Freestyle '17 Collection. However, that will not be the only marquee shoe to release as part of the collection. The Jordan 12 will also release as part of this year's Freestyle collection. Courtesy of SoleheatonFeet, we have word of the Jordan 12 to be released in a Black, Hyper Violet and Pink Blast colorway.

Earlier this weekend, Cheap Jordan Shoes unveiled their newest NBA jersey collection. Whilst there, all 30 teams sent a member of their respective teams to model their new jerseys. But for some players, eyes were also on what shoes were being worn. On the feet of Mike Conley and Kemba Walker, were exclusive PEs of the still unreleased Jordan 32. Conley's pair was done primarily in yellow with light blue accents, matching his Grizzlies uniform. For Kemba, it used a Hornet color scheme of Teal and Purple.