

NBA All Star Drop Jordan Demar Derozan has been holding it down with the Kobe line for years. Now his appreciation for the model paid off as he might be receiving his own Kobe Retro Colorway.

"For sure we're going to have a couple surprises this year, a couple PEs," Buty Jordan Sklep said in an interview session at the launch of Nike's new NBA jerseys in September.

"...Something special is going to come together at some point during the season with me and one of the Kobe shoes. I ain't gonna say what number, but it's one of the Kobe shoes."

Derozan has already had his own Cheap Air Max PE of the Kobe AD hit stores earlier this year, but it's unclear what model he will be utilizing for this collab.

However, you can stick with Sneakerwatch for more updates as it is announced.

Similar to the "Dynamic Pink" Valentine's Day 12 of last year, we will get a Pink AJ XII. This pair will also feature a leather upper, however, this pair will have it in black instead of white. The mudguard will be done in the Hot Pink color, with a pink outsole. Lastly, the shoe is completed with silver eyelets, and a grey TPU piece on the midfoot.