

Outside of the PSNY joints, the Best Jordans Shoes hasn't done abundantly well with its suede-decked iterations. One of the more noticeable shoes that sat was the "Blue Suede" edition, which found its way to Sale sections on more than a few online retailers. But, dipping that same 12 in one of the brand's most memorable color schemes is a different story.

Pictured above is an official look at the upcoming Latest Jordans Shoes edition of the Air Jordan 12. That buttery suede upper comes equipped with the complement of a Sail midsole and outsole. Metallic Silver details come via the lace eyelets and heel branding. Though suede on the 12 has been in a hit-or-miss run lately, this Bordeaux edition, it's safe to say, should be in the former category.

Following Cheap Jordan Shoes partnership with Reebok ending, K. Dot signed with Nike and started teasing Nike Cortez's that were apparently made for/by him. Now it looks like we may get our first taste at a release pair. The pair is simplistic in design, but that's been the theme of all of Lamar's shoe releases. The pair comes in mostly red suede, with the word Damn on the tongue, and Kendrick's initials on the back tab. We have yet to get a release date, but Stick with Sneakerwatch for more info as it is announced.
