

The Best Jordans Shoes was one of the most surprising releases of 2016. Essentially coming out of nowhere around this time last year, the shoe ended up on many year end lists, including ours. The midtop variation hasn't fared quite as well, but there is a new Hightop version coming in 2018. The new high top version has been previewed before, and now we take a look at the new Winter Camo colorway. Done up similarly to the Midtop version, the shoe utilizes a white base and Camo detailing. The rope laces that wrap around the shoe complete the look.

Even though it hasn't been exactly three months since the Latest Jordans Shoes Day festivities, that isn't stopping Nike from revealing what they have up their sleeve for next year. With the Nike Air VaporMax's following growing every day the Swoosh is in full blown watch the throne mood and it looks like next year's prized and newest Nike Air Max 270 model for the unofficial sneaker holiday has leaked and made its way to the internet.

The Cheap Jordan Shoes doesn't have a tech specification sheet available as of yet for obvious reasons but from the initial look at the kicks perforated mesh dominates the sneakers upper while Nike Air Max 270 embroidery and branding hit the tongue and lateral side of the sneaker all the while sitting atop a visible AIR unit installation that hits the heel of the sneaker. From our perspective, the Nike Air Max 270 appears to be centered around athletic performance than casual aesthetic and lifestyle capabilities but, as time moves forward we'll learn more about the silhouette. Let us know your initial thoughts on the '18 Air Max Day sneaker in the comment section below.