After a break for international games, leagues games were back to action again. This week we are promising to see some big names from Bundesliga, La Liga, Serie A in Team Of The Week 29, but it will still be short in Premier League superstars. Anyway we do think a star-studded lineup is primed to feature in TOTW 28 this Wednesday.

Here is our FIFA 18 TOTW 29 Predictions. In the big games in La Liga, Bundesliga and Serie A, there were stunning performance. Edin Džeko hit the mark when hit netted both goals in the 2-0 victory over Empoli, became the first Roma player in history to 33 goals in one single season; Robert Lewandowski scored a hat-trick and Thomas Müller netted brace to help Bayern Munich demolish Augsburg 6-0 and protect their 13-Coin advantage over second-placed RB Leipzig. Coutinho's goal against Everton was simply superb in a Merseyside derby that snapped, crackled and popped. He had seemed to be struggling for form following his injury over the winter, but he's back. Philippe Coutinho has a special magic in his feet with great dribbling ability, pace, and agility. Coutinho is capable of playing with both feet, and can strike the ball well from distance.
