

2k18 MT looked really fresh thanks to the new Frostbite Engine and it seems that NBA 2K18 could use a similar facelift as well. Player and crowd movements just feel stale, so do the graphics and the animations. so it's understandable that 2K Games became a little bit lazy. A new engine would allow it to look even better. Suggest 2 :More Classic Teams This entry has already been covered in a previous list, but it's always good to remind everyone about the need for other classic match-ups apart from those available in the game. From the 1977 Portland Trail Blazers to the 2008 Denver Nuggets, it's always fun to measure up teams of the past with present ones. There were a lot of special teams in NBA history. Some failed because of chemistry issues, others enjoyed that one special season when everything clicked. What better way to honor them then allowing their ageing fans to relive the days of hope and/or glory on the virtual court? In 2004 Vince Carter was traded to the New Jersey Nets for a sick Alonzo Mourning, Aaron Williams, Eric Williams and two first round picks. In 2013 the Nets were this time on the wrong side of the trade, as they got ageing Kevin Garnett and Paul Pierce for five players and three first round picks. Good luck recreating these trades in MyGM! The problem with trading in this mode is that it is impossible to get one player for three, let alone two for five and some picks. Granted, during the course of the season you're able to do some interesting trades, but every time you've got to sacrifice a superstar for a superstar. That's not always the case in the NBA.
