

Fast forward to 2017, people may think that Drop Jordan are already a thing of the past. But with the advent of new lines of designs that not only caters styles for basketball players but also for women who do or do not even play basketball, it clearly shows that these shoes are keeping up with the times.

Summer of High is available in four distinct shades of pastel colors, Air Jordan 11 Win Like 96 per fect to bring a new style concept for the ladies on a winter (other than the usual Ugg boots), which are: Hydrogen Blue (which is a metallic shade of your usual sky blue), Barely Grape (a metallic shade of light purple), Silt Red (a metallic shade of the new color called Millennial Pink), and Sunset Tint (a metallic shade of Coral pink).

Although Buty Jordan Sklep has not yet released the price of the Summer of High collection as of this writing, it is sure that the shoes will be a hit given that not only it is very stylish but also is very trendy and the colors would definitely grab anyone's attention. Being a classic design, these shoes are a great investment, will definitely not go out of style and might surely be in every millennial girl's shopping (or Christmas) list this year.

So for the next two weeks, watch out for updates from Cheap Air Max and be the first one to grab the newest and shiniest Air Jordan 1's. Be the first ones to make history by wearing legendary shoes that showcases a classic retro with the undoubted millennial feel.