The last time we saw the Black and Red Air Jordan 13 released was in 2013, however many were disappointed as it didn't feature the traditional 3M reflective detailing across the uppers. For 2017, Jordan Brand will correct their wrongs.

The 2017 Air Jordan 13 'Bred' features Black leather across the toe, suede on the tongue and 3M reflective mesh across the panels. In addition, Red suede will run across the lower part of the shoe which extends across the heel. Other highlights include a Red Jumpman on the tongue and the traditional hologram by the heel.
